Miss Colombo was presented a beautiful electric lamp and each one of the 35 girls presented her some kind of a kitchen utensil. During the evening a mock marriage was given, with Miss Edna Rossi as minister, Miss Leona Lamperti as groom, Miss Pina Regini as the bride, Miss Aurelia Tomasini as the bridesmaid, and Miss Leonida Rossi as the best man. A rather freakish mishap took place late yesterday afternoon in the rear of the American Express company's office. One of the delivery men, who had just returned from the station, where he had procured a heavy load of express, drove into the yard. Jumping down from his seat he attempted to back his horse to the rear platform to unload. It became necessary to pull the horse forward and then to back it again. In this second back which came with a jerk the rear wheels dropping into a muddy place, the wagon began to rear on its hind "legs" having been too unevenly balanced to stand the load on the tail board. The horse was quickly unharnessed after the wagon started to tip and the entire load settled back leaving the front wheels of the heavy wagon in the air. Considerable time was necessary to unload and put it back on an even keel.

A double team, belonging to Joseph Paquet of the distillery, furnished a little excitement this morning when they executed a short but swift dash from Reynolds' store to the library. Mr. Paquet had tied his team in front of the Reynolds' store and had left to transact some business. In some way, one of the empty milk cans, with which the wagon was loaded, fell off and startled the horses so that they broke their tie rope and headed up the street. Someone, whose knowledge of runaways was rather limited, threw a cap at the running horses and this frightened them so that they headed for the lawn of the library and collided firmly with a small tree. As a result of this collision one of the horses broke away and started up South Main street, but was stopped by V. R. Milo of Summer street in front of the McWhorter store. The harness of the other horse was so tangled in the tree that he could not move. In spite of crashing against the tree the only damage was in the form of a broken harness.

Every member of the Knights of Columbus and mardis gras committee is requested to attend the meeting to be held to-night at 7:30 o'clock sharp. Per order J. B. Kelly, G. K.
